

The Accordent Presenter Suite: A TRADITION OF INNOVATION.

Accordent's first presentation authoring solutions were developed for, and in conjunction with, the leading content delivery networks and satellite companies in the world. These same companies were distributing the largest live events transmitted via the Web. Because of that, they required an authoring environment that had virtually unlimited scalability, was easy to use, and substantially reduced their turnaround time on projects. Accordent delivered back then and as the streaming industry continued to pave new and powerful paths in corporate communications and distance learning, the key figures continued to look to Accordent to provide their presentation authoring tools.

Today, Accordent continues to build upon its tradition. We offer a broader software suite that is more innovative and easier to use than ever before. And though not everybody requires an authoring tool capable of scaling up to tens of thousands of simultaneous users, isn't it nice to know that your authoring tools meet the same standards and incorporate the same architecture being used by some of the largest, most successful companies in the world?
